MEETINGS: The Olympia Genealogical Society meets the 2nd Thursdays of the month from September to June in the Thurston County Courthouse at 7:00pm. Anyone interested is welcome to attend.

QUARTERLY: Articles and information for the Quarterly should be submitted by the 15th of the month prior to publication to Alma Greenwood, 11409 Aqua Place, Anderson Island, WA 98303-9740, phone: 253-884-3236 (May-October) and 17-777 Langlois Rd #146, Desert Hot Springs, CA 92241-9414, phone: 760-251-3384 (November-April) or e-mail: alma_greenwood@msn.com.

COVER: Pictured on the cover are William and Julia A. Turner Littlejohn, Thurston County pioneers. He was b in IN 14 Sep 1837 and came to WT in 1851. Children include sons: B.F., Robert, Charles, and Fred and a daughter Ella Goldsby. Sister was Ella Jane French. His obit from 27 Jan 1925 paper is in file. This is an example of the material that can be found on the State Library's website: www.digitalwa.statelib.wa.gov/ where you check on Washington State Collection, Washington State Library-Thurston County Pioneers Database. There are 128 pioneers and 19 of them have photos. Information about the pioneer may include birth and death info, info on parents, when arrived in Washington, children, etc. This is an example of why the Washington State Library is so important to historians and genealogists.

Editorial

As mentioned on the inside of the front cover, the cover photo and accompanying information about the subjects is from an online site provided by the Washington State Library. You can look at a digital reproduction of the original questionnaires. What a tragedy it would be for the people of Washington State as well as for researchers, genealogists, legislators, educators, and students to become the only state in the nation without a state library. Be sure to let your representatives know where you stand on this topic.

If you are interested in Thurston County pioneers, do follow up and examine this website. A handy guide to the names of those included in this database was provided in the April (A-Mc) and July (Mc-Z) issues of the Quarterly by Jean Laws. It also might give you an idea to look for a similar "publication" in other states.

Exchange Editor's Message

This issue of the Quarterly has a list of the periodicals in the Olympia Library and in storage. Take a look at these lists, examine the ones you can, and order any you think might be useful. Letty and I write notes from these exchanges and they are published in each Quarterly. This is only a hint of what is available in this useful resource, so please do yourself a favor and make use of them.

We have recently had another set of exchange periodicals bound. Some are now on the shelf in the Genie section of the Olympia Library and some in storage in the Montesano library. Those in storage are still accessible by ordering them at the reference desk to be sent to the library for your use for a short period of time. You'll be glad you did.

Perhaps you are wondering how to find specific information in these periodicals. One way is to simply read through those for your state or area. Most are indexed but all are easy to use. Just as we publish Thurston County records, others do the same for their area.

Have you heard of PERSI? It stands for Periodical Source Index and is done by the Allen County Public Library. They index nearly all genealogical periodicals by surname, geographical area and subject, including ours. We have a hard cover set in our library or you can use it online in Ancestry.com. We also have the CD. Then if you find something that interests you, you can contact them for copies or make a note of it and find the periodical elsewhere, even in our own collection or perhaps Tacoma or Seattle when you're there.

Most Genealogical societies have a web page and have published their records or will copy from their publications, etc. I use www.usgenweb.org for this.

Our library subscribes to Ancestry.com and also has many records on CDs you can use free at the Olympia Library. These were purchased by our society.

Let's all make a resolution to use periodicals more for our research this year.

GILHAM MATERIAL

In the files of material to be considered for publication in the Quarterly, were several items donated by Muriel Gilham on 14 Aug 1980 (address at that time: Box 252, Keyport, WA 98345). This note was stapled to the genealogy charts: "This is a truncated chart. It is yet to be completed as time permits. Alexander Henry, page 2, b 6 May 1836 is the Thurston County pioneer who died in 1928 and the second husband of Clara Gilliland (Lewis). He is my grandfather. This shows our relationship to Peter Hendry b. 1833 and who farmed Affleck." In addition to the genealogy charts were a small pamphlet "A Tenancy of 250 Years," a Bible record for the Thomas B. Moulton family, and two marriage records. These materials are presented here in hopes they will assist someone in their research.

TENANCY OF 250 YEARS.

THE STRATHBOGIE 'DAVACH' OF AFFLECK.

[Reprinted from "The Banffshire Journal," 7th April 1896]

MR PETER HENDRY.
Who Died on 26th May 1912

The 'aught and forty davachs of Strathbogie have passed into local history. One 'davach' or 'daugh' as it may now be called is that of Affleck, which has been occupied by the same family since at least the year 1650--a period of 246 years. The case is probably unique in the North of Scotland. There are not a few families who have been for a century and much more resident on the same estate. In our columns from time to time such instances have been cited. Here, however, we have a family not only resident on the same estate, hut on the same farm for two and a half centuries.

The daugh of Affleck is situated about a couple of miles from Huntly. Its lands lie pleasantly on the two sides of the Banff turnpike. Going from Huntly we leave the Clashmach and Gartly hills, and approach the beautiful garden of Forgue: to the south lie the fertile lands of Drumblade. How long the name of Hendry has been associated with the daugh we cannot tell. Probably no one can know. One of the publications of the Spalding Club in 1843 was a bulky volume containing the records of the Presbytery of Strathbogie, edited by Mr John Stuart, Aberdeen. In it, under date 1650, we read:--

'Cornpeared Alexander Hendry in Kynnoir, and gave in his supplicatoun to be resaved to the subscription of the League and Covenant humblie acknowledging that too willinglie he had followed the sinfull and wicked courses of the enemies of God against the Covenant, acknowledging his presence at diveris bloodie battles and so by word andvreit manifested his unfained sorrow for his former rebellious courses, quhilk the bretheren taking to their consideration ordained him to mak his repentance in sackcloth in his owne kirk of Kynnoir on the first Lord's day that the minister happened to be present, and presently he subservyed the same thereanent.

A course of sackcloth had evjdently worked a cure from being a partaker in bloodie battells, he is in less than a year a great supporter of the kirk and his opinion is invived of a minister proposed to be placed at Kinnoir. The Presbytery, at a meeting on 29th January 1651, had under consideration the matter of the placing of Mr. William Jameson to be minister, and we read that--

'Alexander Hendrie in Affleck gave him approbation in all, and was most willing to embrace him as their minister.

Then, a well.known authority on 'Place Names,' James Macdonald, the Farm, in a lecture delivered before the Huntly Field Club in January 1890, which was put in circulation at the time, remarks that

"The daugh of Affleck contained Bruntstone, Affleck (wad set in 1677 to Alexander Hendrie, whose descendants still occupy the farm), (Greenfold and Hillockhead Affleck is a corruption of 'achadh-nan-leac' --the field of the stones, or stoney field. The name is very common over the whole kingdom, and with few exceptions may be found once and occasionally two or three times in every county. Although frequently written in extended form, it is generally pronounced Affleck. The same change occurs in Afflock, a farm on the Loch o' Skene, which in the old writings is given Auchinloiche."

All of which goes to show that so far as history can recall the daugh of Affleck has been associated with a Hendry. It is so at present.

The farm of Affleck is included in the Huntly collection of the estates of the Duke of Richmond and Gordon. Mr Peter Hendry, who occupies it now, has been tenant since 1854, and since 1886 also of the adjoining farm on the same 'davach of Hillockhead. Immediately preceding tenants of Affleck were his father James, his grandfather William, his greatgrandfather Alexander, and there now taking active part in the oversight of the farm his son - Mr Alexander Hendry--five generations of whom there is a personal knowledge. Mr Hendry entered on the occupancy of the farm at a time when prices of agricultural produce began to take the first great rise. It was a period that, in a rural economy, was characterised by farm improvements, tenants to a large extent investing their profits in the soil. Probably there are few farms in the district of the same size which afford such a brilliant example of the system of improvement that was largely engaged in about half a century ago. In 1854, when Mr Hendry entered, part of the buildings was constructed of turf and clay, and the different parts stood as though independent of each other--scattered at points near the house. A considerable part of the farm was lying waste. It was probably the high-lying part of the farm that gave the name to the whole davach,' for large portions of it were covered with layers of immense boulders, more than justifying its derivation, field of the stones. On the lower ground, part of every field was lying waste--rashes and whins grew in luxuriance all around. Of dyke or fence, there was none; herds supplied their want. Part of the farm was indeed reserved in the lease for planting, but the change in the surroundings that was soon manifested by the young and enterprising tenant prevented the step from being carried out. By gradual effort, advantage was so taken of slack seasons as they occurred, that forty acres of waste land were taken in and included in the rotation, which, at an expenditure, of £8 per acre, cost Mr Hendry the sum of £320. The large boulders on the land were bored and blasted and removed at a cost of £35, and with them--all found on the farm--were built 4040 yards of dykes at a further cost of £60. The water for driving the mill, collected from springs on the upper part of the farm and conveyed in covered-in pipes to the dam, had to be disposed of, and as it could not run along the side of the road, the tenant had to construct a long culvert at a cost of about £45. The farm steading of Affleck was built in 1860. The proprietor gave the wood and the slates, and Mr Hendry drove all the materials and made the excavations. The performance of the latter was not in every case light; a mill wheel of fourteen feet diameter occupies considerable depth. The wood was driven from Gordon Castle, and there were 1225 loads of stones, the whole work being done at a cost to the tenant of £326. The recital of improvements so great and extensive as these surely entitles Mr Hendry to be classed very highly in the rank of improving' tenants, since first agricultural prosperity and advancement initiated a national scheme, individually carried out, of farm improvements.

Mr Hendry's beneficial work did not end with what he had done on what may be called the family holding of Affleck. In 1886 he entered on a lease of the adjoining farm of Hillockhead. The steading there was built in 1991, and is throughout constructed on the most highly improved modern principles. There is a tasteful and beautifully situated dwelling-house. The mill conveniently occupies the centre of the 'square.' The byres, which are double, connect with it on each side, so that straw may be conveyed to them without being subjected to outside influences. Mr Hendry took out all the foundations and drove the materials, the stones conveyed amounting alone to 1560 loads. By an ingenious arrangement the water that drives the mill at Affleck drives also the mill at Hillockhead. It is conveyed from the former to a dam at Hillockhead, and the power it creates is transmitted by a stout wire to the machinery, which, despite its distance from the originating force, is perfectly under command, it being set in motion in a few seconds. The conveyance of the water by pipes and the cutting of the large drain cost £56. The dwelling-house was erected in 1890, and cost the proprietor £500, to which Mr Hendry added a sum of £130 to carry out some changes, in the way of amplification on the original plans. Part of the waste land on the farm has also, been reclaimed. A great many stones were blasted and taken out of the land, with which 1550 yards of dykes were built—at a cost to the tenant of £50. By the cordial cooperation of the Duke and such effort of Mr Hendry as has been described, the two farms have been converted into holdings of the most desirable character.

The farm of Affleck extends to 134 acres; that of Hillockhead to 160 acres with 12 acres of pasture, the acreage of the farms under Mr Hendry's care thus extending to 306 acres. The land on the upper portion is generally of a friable nature; that below the turnpike is a little stiff, the strong loam being somewhat inclined to clay. Readers of reports of agricultural shows do not require to be told that a high-class system of farming prevails. It is particularly notable for the fine samples of seed grain produced on it, not because of any inherent qualities in the soil, nor is it due to favourable situation although the latter doubtless has its influence—but to the judicious care taken throughout its whole production, from the skilful cultivation of the land on generous principles to the time and effort bestowed on its dressing. A silver medal bears the legend that from Affleck went the best sample of oats to the Royal Northern spring show in 1887, and that the reputation has not been lost is shown in the fact that a sample of sandy oats from Affleck was this year first at Huntly, second at Aberdeen, and won prizes elsewhere. If anything be grown, it is well, Mr Hendry thinks, to take judicious steps to grow it of the best if possible. Thus this year turnips from Affleck were first at Portsoy and Keith and second at Aberdeen; and grass seed was first at Huntly, Keith, and Aberdeen, and second at Portsoy. Such honours as these won throughout a long series of years do not come by chance. The well ventilated and lofty stables give room for the display of the numerous prize tickets won by its present or past occupants; a pair of turkeys strutting proudly in the yard are pointed as having won the first prize at Huntly last year; of the triumphs of Affleck dairy space forbids us to speak—they are written in the chronicles of many shows.

The facts stated are the outcome of the exercise of well defined principles sought to be applied in all branches of production. What steps are possible are taken to produce the best; a good animal is as cheaply kept as a bad one—and frequently more cheaply, and it is a truism of which examples are every day found, that in these days when Great Britain is the dumping ground of the world's agricultural produce, the best will uniformly pay their way. Examples are indeed at hand. The character and vigour of seed grain from Affleck are so appreciated that there is a demand for it as seed, and the enhanced value of good and reliable grain to be so used even in dull seasons as the present does something more than cover the cost of care and labour spent on it. The other day consignments were ready for despatch to districts so far apart as Montrose, Portnoy, and Glass. The value of horses has fallen from the high pedestal of half-a-dozen years ago; still the other day a gelding was sold from Affleck at sixty guineas. Of course he was a good one but it is only the good 'uns that will leave a margin of profit for their maintenance.

A lot of superior cross stock are maintained on the farms. Several of the cows are pure bred. There are Aberdeen-Angus cows from Coynachie, Morlich, and Drummuir—big, deep-fleshed, sappy cows. The Morlich cow has been a prizewinner at Huntly; the Coynachie cow is doing well with a pair of calves, and the Drummuir cow is just off from suckling a pair. There is also a very nice young Shorthorn cow, bought at a recent Pirriesmill sale. She is the four-year-old Dainty Duchess 2nd, by the Sittyton bull Sovereign by Gondomar, and from Dainty Duchess by Mr Duthie's Boulevard. Blood will tell. She is bringing up with much success a pair of promising calves—one of them her own, a particularly nice heifer, pure-bred—and she is beautifully laid on flesh. There is in use a massive, evenly-covered Polled bull bred at Inchcoursie, which is leaving a lot of grand calves, the home-bred black Polled stots being an even good lot. A few are bought in, but a considerable portion of the keepers is bred on the farm.

Mr Hendry breeds all the horses used on the farm, and sells off a few from time to time. The district is well supplied with high class stud horses; some of the farms in the vicinity are the homes of large and excellent studs of pure-bred Clydesdales. The Gordon Castle horse Lord Lennox left a few very good things at Affleck. One of the best was May, now a five year-old, which, as a two-year-old, was first in a class of fifteen fillies at Huntly, and was second as a three-year-old. There is also on the farm a flock of forty greyfaced ewes, some of which are at present proving fruitful dams.

The work described has not been the labour of a day. It has taken Mr Hendry some of the most active years of his life to perform, and he can look around with satisfaction on the beneficent results he has achieved. That the ancient davach may never want a descendant of the worthy farmer of 'Afflect,' who, not turning his sword into a ploughshare, was brought before an ecclesiastical bar two hundred and fifty years ago for taking part in the 'bloodie battelis' of the times, and one as enterprising as the present esteemed tenant, will be the hope of many who have a lurking fondness for the maintenance of old associations.

[Reprinted from "The Huntly Express," May 31, 1912]

We deeply regret having this week to record the death of one of our most worthy neighbours, Mr Peter Hendry, farmer, Hillockhead. The end came suddenly on Sunday morning, after a brief illness. Mr Hendry was at the Mart sale on the, previous Wednesday, and taking ill there, had to be conveyed home. On Saturday it seemed as if he had quite rallied again, but a relapse set in on Sunday morning, and he passed away suddenly after partaking of some light food.

The deceased was a native of the district, where he spent his long and industrious life. As will be gathered from a paragraph further on, the connection of the Hendry family with Affleck goes far back into other days. Some 26 years ago Mr Hendry became tenant of Hillockhead, where a fine steading and beautiful residence were erected, a son, Mr Alexander M. Hendry, entering as tenant of Affleck. Deceased was a most industrious and successful farmer. Of a quiet and retiring disposition, he did not meddle, with public affairs. In Church work he was deeply and sincerely interested, and was for many years a deacon and elder of Strathbogie U.F. Church, to which he rendered loyal service. Mr Hendry had much to recall and relate of an interesting nature of all pertaining to ecclesiastical history--particularly as concerning Huntly and Kinnoir. There he few left who had a loftier regard for the services of the sanctuary, and there were as few who were more regular, whilst health permitted, in their attendance at church. It was a very stormy day--and something more--if the Hillockhead pew was empty. Mr Hendry took a deep personal interest in the young people around him. In this connection it is worthy of note that for over forty years he taught a Sunday school at Affleck and Hillockhead. To say that Mr Hendry enjoyed the regard and esteem of a wide circle of friends is to poorly express the feeling which many had towards him. In private life, Mr Hendry was one of the kindest and gentle of men--ever ready with genial welcome and liberal hospitality.

Mr Hendry is survived by his widow, two sons and four daughters. The elder son is the Rev. James Hendry, Corabran, N.S.W., and the other is Mr Alexander M. Hendry, farmer, Affleck. The daughters are Isabella, wife of Mr A. J. M. Anderson, farmer, Yonder Bognie; Ella Margaret, wife of the Rev. Mr David Cran, farmer, Edderton, Ross-shire; and Clementina, who resides at home. In their heavy loss much sympathy is extended to Mrs Hendry and family.

This small 8-page booklet was apparently prepared from newspaper articles and possibly as a funeral booklet. The "original" in the file was an extremely poor photocopy so the body had to be retyped. This was done exactly as the original with variant spellings sometimes occurring in the same sections. The photograph was an even worse copy.

HOLDEN FAMILY RECORD

This family record was found in a box of books donated for a book sale in Lacey, Thurston County, Washington. Anyone with ties to the family who would like the book, may have it for the cost of postage or the cost of photocopies of the information. Please contact Jean Laws for details at 360-943-6449 or Ivyshire@cs.com. Family information is written on the blank pages preceding the title page and text and the pages following the text. It is in poor condition so photocopies are difficult to decipher. A relative of Sally Chamberlain who married Alexander Holden is Judy Biebesheimer, 2019 San Leonardo Way, Lady Lake, FL 32159 JDBieb@prodigy.net.

Victor's Letter

This is a letter from my great-grandmother's brother. His name was Victor Hiram Shedd. This branch of the Shedd family settled in Chautauqua County, NY, in the early 1800's. The general area was Stockton, but my grandmother, who was also born in Cassadaga, spoke often of Chautauqua. It was this area which spawned the "Chautauqua Movement" in the 1890's. The Cassadaga, which Victor speaks of in his letter is, today, a teeny, little, back-of-nowhere hamlet. It's hard to imagine anyone being led astray there!

Victor Hiram was the only son of George and Agnes Webber Shedd. George and 2 of his daughters died in a diphtheria epidemic in late 1880. Agnes was left a widow at the age of 33, with Victor, Jessie (my great-grandmother), and a posthumous child, Georgia, born in 1881. Agnes remarried (I don't know the marriage date) to Niram Mallory.

I hadn't heard anything about Victor until I received a photocopy of this letter from my cousin, who inherited all of the family stuff from our great-aunt. I subsequently received a copy of a picture of him in uniform. Evidently, after he joined the Army, he must have gone home, because I also have a copy of a picture of him, his mother, and his only surviving sister (my great-grandmother). Victor was a handsome devil! He makes my knees buckle even now!

Victor died at the Presidio August 5, 1901, at the age of 26. I found his death cause in military records at the National Archives in Seattle. The cause of death was given as "puerperal fever". I asked a friend of mine, who is an RN, what this was, and she was stumped, even after consulting a medical dictionary. I prefer to think that Victor was a "bad boy" before he joined the Army, and probably was a "bad boy" afterwards! ("Bad Boys" lend spice to a family, don't you think??) And this "bad boyness" led to his death.

Read this letter and draw your own conclusions about Victor. I know what I think (and hope!) about this black sheep of the family.

Dawn Spaulding Amos

Note: This is not an exact transcription. Since I was dealing with a photocopy, I took the liberty of inserting punctuation I couldn't actually see, and I suspect I instinctively spelled things correctly that Victor didn't. But the words are the same, and, I hope, the sense is there.

Dear Mother & Sister and Friends

I receved your letter yesterday was very glad to hear from you & that you were well. I am enjoying the very best of health. I never felt better in my life. I got a letter from Aunt Etta yesterday. I was very much please to hear from her. You asked where Presidio is. Well we are

2 miles from Sanfrancisco on a Military training ground it is on the coast overlooking the Golden gate everything very nice & pretty here lots of flowers & Tropical plants. I like the place very much.

Well the reason I came here was I had made up my mind to leave Cassadaga the place which had nearly ruined me & because you all had said so much about my staying there. I made up my mind to get out and I got & I think I did right to & If my time is to come now it will not be later/one thing shure I am not living on my friends. I get good grub & plenty of it & a good place to sleep. Tell Niram I am Boss Carpenter for my company while I stay here. I don't know when I am agoing to leave. My Band is in Manilla. as you see I am not with them yet. I get 1560 [$15.60 ?] a month, My Board, Doctor Bills and $72.00 worth of clothes a year. I have now 1 Blue Uniform, 1 White Uniform, 1 Brown Uniform, 2 suits Blue, 2 suits white underwear, and 2 brown suits underwear, 4 pairs socks, 1 Hat, 1 Cap, 1 Rubber Blanket & 2 wollen Blankets ^ 1 Pair shoes^ so you can see I am very well stocked up & I haven't draw only 28.00 Dollars worth yet.

I have all kinds of fruit Oranges are 5 cents dozen Big ones & every thing in the fruit line you can think of. The weather is about 60 to 70 % [degrees?] the year around it does not very only 10%. It rains here with a blue sky & no clouds. We have earthquakes every little while. I have got used them now. I have write to some of the Cassadaga people come time ago & if they don't mail to answer it then can kiss my #. I am Glad you didn't feel Bad when you got my letter. I was afraid you would & I didn't want you to.

You must understand that there is a ruling power that governs this earth and all things in it and we can't change them but let Providence take it's coarse. If I am never to return again all right. If I am then you will see me again let us hope for the best.

I will try and send you one of my pictures when I get them. Tell Georgia to be cearful and not get sick. I am agoing to send her a new song it is Just as the sun went down Tell Niram & Clyde I think of them often & also that Wood Job. I must close for this time. Write often I will get the letters if I leave all right. Good bye your loving son

Roger Victor LeClerc

After a one-week battle with Promyelocytic Leukemia, Dad passed away on Friday, October 26, 2001, at 11:00 a.m. He was predeceased by his son, Roger Victor LeClerc II in 1978 and by younger brother Robert Carlisle LeClerc in 1994. He is survived by our Mom, his wife of 58 years, Margaret Anne (Lindley); children Michael Dawn LeClerc Peters (Ben) and Robert Lindley LeClerc (Brenda); grandchildren Michael Bennett Peters (Jennifer), Janna Jill Peters, Lindley Anne LeClerc, and Natalie Kay LeClerc; and great-grand daughter Kaitlyn Victoria Peters.

Dad was born in Hoquiam, Wash., to Albert Victor and Faye Carlisle LeClerc on July 23, 1917. He spent his early years in Hoquiam, moving to Onalaska, Wash., shortly after the depression in 1931. He worked in the family-owned Carlisle Lumber Mill, earning his way through school at Centralia Jr. College and Washington State College, where he affiliated with Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity. He graduated with a degree in civil engineering, achieving membership in the scholastic fraternities of Tau Beta Pi, Alpha Chi Sigma, Sigma Tau, Phi Lambda Upsilon, Phi Kappa Phi, and Phi Beta Kappa. He met Mom, Margaret Anne Lindley at the Phi Kappa Phi initiation, and shortly after their graduation, they were married on September 7, 1943.

The Petroleum Institute sent Dad to Illinois Tech where he studied petroleum engineering and taught courses to enlisted men. During World War II, Dad enlisted in the Navy and was trained to become an electronic officer at Princeton, where Mom joined him. After the War, he and Mom settled in Seattle where he was finally discharged at Sand Point. He worked for Seattle Gas Company for a time, and then settled in Olympia where they raised their three children.

Dad went to work for the Washington State Department of Highways as a chemist in 1947. He rose to the position of Materials Engineer, overseeing the design and construction of the Materials Laboratory on Trosper Road. While serving as materials engineer, he held more than a dozen key committee positions with the National Transportation Research Board, The American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials, the American Society for Testing and Materials, and the American Society of Civil Engineers. He continued his career after retirement as an International Pavement Consultant.

Throughout his life, our family enjoyed camping, boating, water-skiing, and working in "the Back Woods" together. When Dad and Mom celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary, we kids - plus one spouse - sent them to Hawaii. We didn't realize that Dad had planned the same trip at the same time! The Maui visit became a yearly trek with Napili Bay the favorite destination.

Dad was a perfectionist and he spent his life "doing it right." This is a legacy he left to all of us. We love you and miss you, Dad.

Memorial services will be held at the Olympia Yacht Club, Thursday, November 1st, at 1:00 p.m. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to your favorite charity.

TOMBSTONE
ABBREVIATIONS

Ever wonder what those abbreviations on tombstones or in obits mean? This issue has a good list of these , for instance: KOTM =Knights of Macabees, POSA=Patriotic Order of the Sons of America, IHSV=Red Cross of Constantine, AOF=Ancient Order of Foresters and more. Now you'll need to find out more about the organizations and you can do that in our library. It is in the Genealogical section: 973 Hereditary Register of the United States of America. Also a good 1-page article on Civil War Records on the Internet. (Stillaguamish Valley Genealogical Society, Stillaguamish Star, Jul-Aug 2001)

HOUSTON, TX
DEATHS

New project by this group is an index to deaths in Houston Newspapers 1835-1940. Texas death records start in 1903 but are incomplete until 1940 so this should be a great help to researchers. (The Bulletin, Houston Tx Genealogical Forum Sep 2001)

GENEALOGICAL

Journal of the New Mexico Genealogical Society (Sep 2001) has a good article on genealogical fraud and how you can spot one.

BIRTH & DEATH
REGISTRATIONS
CENSUS

Looking for a birth or death date? Maybe you can't find it because they don't exist at that time. This issue has a handy page giving the date of birth and death registrations for each state . Plus a long article on what can be found in each census 1790-1920. (Oklahoma Genealogical Society Quarterly Vol 46 # 3 2001,

1930 CENSUS

To supplement the above article on the U S census, Beaver Briefs (Willamette, Or Valley Genealogical Society, Summer 2001) has a very detailed article on the 1930 census which will be released on 1 Apr 2002. Be ready for that one.

JACKSON COUNTY, OR DEATHS

There is an interesting new listing of people who died in Jackson County but are buried elsewhere. This issue covers A-Jj. This is a good source to find a burial place but also the possibility of an obit as they are often published in a person's hometown. (Rogue Digger, Rogue Valley Genealogical Society, Jackson County, OR, Fall 2001)

BUTTE CO, CA
RECORDS

The Genealogical Goldmine of Paradise Ca is now an annual publication. Volume 34, 2001 has a great amount of Butte County, CA info such as Scots of Table Mt, Butte County Pioneer Settlers, deeds, Veterans buried in Butte County and much more. Truly a goldmine of info.

GEDCOM

Article on Gedcom compatible: But how good is the fit. Don't know what gedcom is? Genealogical Communication Data, one genealogist sending and receiving info to another. Don't understand it? Read this article. (Westward into Nebraska, Greater Omaha Genealogical Society Oct 2001)

CEMETERY INDEX, ST
LOUIS, MO

This Society has been developing a Cemetery Index for St Louis and St Louis County, working with 1,000,000 burials and expects to increase this number. The data is entered into computer files. (St Louis, Missouri Genealogical Society Newsletter, July 2001)

A YANKEE

To a foreigner, a Yankee is an American. To a Southerner in the US a Yankee is a Northerner. To a Northerner, a Yankee lives in New England. In New England, a Yankee is someone from Vermont. To a Vermonter, a Yankee is someone who still uses an outhouse. (Toledo Area Oh Genealogical Society Newsletter, June 2001)

BOULDER, CO RECORDS

The last in the series of Divorce Records U-Z, 1867-1919 were printed along with an alphabetical list compiled from information in the Indexes to Court Records at the Boulder County Justice Center. All the following share a common ancestor: siblings share parents, first cousins share grandparents, second cousins share great grandparents; and third cousins share great great grandparents. The child of your first cousin is your first cousin once removed. (Boulder, CO Genealogical Society Quarterly, Aug 2001)

NEW MEXICO RESEARCH

If I had New Mexico ancestors, I would be waiting for each new issue. This quarterly exchange is crammed with all of the hoped for church, court, newspaper, census records and much, much more. (New Mexico Genealogical Society, June 2001)

SWEDISH NAMING PATTERNS

Swedish naming patterns and idiosyncrasies can make research of Swedish ancestors intimidating at first. Three articles in this exchange could be helpful. Swedish Names; Swedish Military Names, and Scandinavian Name same. The third article addresses the authors puzzling search for his immigrant ancestor's original Norwegian names. (Sioux Valley Genealogical Society, SD, July 2001)

CONFEDERATE PENSIONS

Confederate veterans who were disabled or indigent may have applied for a pension from the state in which they served. Many pension applications are in state archives available for research. The following information is needed in applying for a record of such pension: 1). Veteran's name and unit in which he served and 2). Widow's name and county in which she lived after the Civil War. Some archives also have records of Confederate Homes, muster rolls of state confederate militia and other records of service. Florida, Georgia, Kentucky were listed with time period when pensions were granted, addresses printed in article for contacting each state. (The Genealogical Society of South Brevard, Melbourne, FL, Fall-Sept 2001)

TAMA COUNTY, IA

This quarterly newsletter consists of twelve pages that are filled with records of this area. One of the articles, short but helpful, presents ideas on researching Czech and Slovaks, with web sites for specific areas of regional research. (Tama Co Museum News, IA, July 2001)

"SUZY"

"Suzy," Suzy Lee fell in love. She planned to marry Joe. She was so happy about it all, she told her pappy so. Pappy told her "Suzy gal" you'll have to find another. I'd just as soon yo ma don't know, but Joe is yo half-brother So Suzy forgot about her Joe and planned to marry Will. But after telling pappy this, he said "there's trouble still" You can't marry Will, my gal and please don't tell your mother. Cause Will and Joe and several mo I know is

- your half brother. But Ma Ma knew and said "Honey Child," do what makes you happy. Marry Will or marry Joe, you ain't no kin to pappy. (Grays Harbor Genealogical Society, Sep-Oct 2001)
- GRANT CO, WA 1920 CENSUS The 1920 census Grant Co, WA, Soap Lake precinct is continued in this issue. This census has been printed in the March and June quarterlies also. (Grant Co, WA, Genealogical Society, Quarterly, Sep 2001)
- SWEDISH RESEARCH Do you have Swedish ancestors? Tracing your Swedish Ancestry is a very helpful 40-page booklet put together by the Swedish Information Service. It begins with basic information about personal documents to look for in America including family Bibles, diaries, letters to and from Sweden, photographs and naturalizations papers. The next section includes vital statistics, U S census, military records, land records, city directories, etc. This booklet is available free from: Swedish Information Service, One Dag Hammerskjold Plaza, New York, N Y 1117-2201. Phone: 212-583-2550 email: requests@swedeninfo.com; website: www.swedeninfo.com. There are ten other Swedish internet addresses if you can read Swedish. (Milwaukee County Genealogical Society, Aug 2001)
- WISCONSIN TREASURES Hidden treasures in the Milwaukee Public library including Wisconsin Military records and the Milwaukee County Historical Society holdings. (Milwaukee County, Wisconsin Society Reporter, Nov 2001)

GENEALOGICAL PERIODICALS IN STORAGE – 2002

Library Patrons can have someone at the reference desk of any of the Timberland libraries order the relevant periodicals from storage in Montesano. The turn around time is usually two days and the Montesano staff has been very responsive. The listings in the TRL Periodical Catalog are also current. Unfortunately, these are not listed in the online library catalog, so you cannot place a hold. You can also go to Montesano but would have to ask at the desk to have them brought up out of storage. The storage stacks are not open to the public.
