Spotlight on NARA'S Pacific Alaska Region (Seattle)

The National Archives-Seattle Branch has custody of the permanently valuable records of the field offices and regional divisions of federal agencies in the Pacific Northwest--Alaska, Idaho, Oregon, and Washington. At one time the service area also included Montana. In addition to the holdings of original records, the branch has an extensive microfilm collection pertaining to these states and to the rest of the nation. The microfilm includes all the federal population censuses from 1790-1910 and other materials of interest to genealogists, historians, and other scholars. The holdings of the Seattle Branch cover a wide range of subjects, offering a rich source of biographical and historical data.

The largest and most significant record group held by the Seattle Branch is that of the United States District and Circuit Courts. Judicial records provide clear insights into activities and individuals of the Pacific Northwest, and any history of this area must necessarily draw upon these sources. Freelance writers, college students, genealogists, and historians will find in these files the basic ingredients for writing local, regional, and administrative history. Court records consist of bound volumes (mainly indexes, docket books, journals, order books, and final record books) and case files. Federal court case files are available for Alaska (1884-1961); Idaho (1890-1961); Montana (1868-1961); Oregon (1859-1961); and Washington (1889-1961).

The Seattle Branch holds numerous cases relating to: fishing rights, land title, and other treaty rights of Pacific Northwest Indian tribes; case files relating widespread smuggling activities across the U.S./Canada border; files documenting enforcement of the Chinese Exclusion Act, and other aspects of life in the Asian communities of Portland and Seattle.

Court cases from Washington, Oregon, and Montana include landmark Indian water and fishing rights decisions. Other bankruptcy, admiralty, civil, and criminal case files provide sources for study of business communities and local economics of northwest cities, "espionage" cases, timber fraud cases, the Weyerhaeuser kidnapping, and the Olmstead wiretap case. Of special interest to family historians are naturalization records for the federal courts in Alaska, Montana, Oregon, and Washington. The Superior Courts for the state of Washington for King, Pierce, Snohomish, and Thurston counties have also deposited their naturalization records at the Seattle Branch. Closely related to the court records are the files of United States attorneys' and marshals' offices and the Bureau of Prisons.

Records of Alaska's territorial courts provide extensive primary material for studies of law enforcement, civil rights, and other issues on the far northern frontier. These courts were endowed with authorities commonly assumed by county governments and school districts elsewhere in the United States, and their records are particularly rich sources for studies of Alaskan life and history. Customs Bureau files at the Seattle Branch include fascinating tales of customs agents at isolated border outposts pitted against opium smugglers, counterfeiters, and other unscrupulous characters. Records of customs Collectors, Puget Sound Collection District, include correspondence, 1852-1905; journals and financial records relating to importing of merchandise into the United States; documentation, measurement, and inspection of vessels; and records concerning the enforcement of customs and navigation laws. Logbooks of merchant vessels in foreign commerce and shipping articles signed by all crew members are present for 1890-1911, and 1920-54. For anyone with a serious interest in the maritime activities on the West Coast, the original records at the Seattle Branch are indispensable.

Available on microfilm are records of Alaskan Customhouses, 1867-1939. These records consist of correspondence and other records of the Office of the Collector of Customs at Sitka and Juneau, and records from the posts of Eagle, Forty Mile, Ketchikan, Kodiak, Mary Island, Tongas, Unga, and Wrangell.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs records at the Seattle Branch include those of agencies in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Montana, and area offices in Juneau, Billings, and Portland.

Indian Agency records usually include correspondence organized under various filing schemes, school and tribal censuses, health and school records, accounting records, and annual narrative and statistical reports. Dates covered are, in general, 1851-1965, but records covering the complete life of the agencies are not present in all cases. The records could be used to support studies of conflicts between on-and-off reservation tribal members over tribal policies; Indian education and acculturation; implementation of and tribal resistance to the termination policy; the Alaskan Reindeer Service; Eskimo crafts; and numerous other historical, legal, ethnographic, and linguistic topics. A valuable source for studying the education of Alaska natives is the branch's holdings of photographs and historical albums of Bureau of Education and Bureau of Indian Affairs schools in Alaska. The albums are also available on microfilm.

The Seattle Branch holds records of the Army Corps of Engineers, North Pacific Division, and of the Seattle and Portland Districts, documenting construction of Oregon and Washington coastal artillery forts, the Lake Washington Ship Canal and Locks (Seattle), and the Columbia River survey which helped set the stage for federal construction of major dams on the rivers of the Northwest. The Seattle Branch has records of the McNeil Island Penitentiary, Washington, which include prisoner commitment logs, 1887-1951; daily journals of staff; annual reports, 1911-26; expense records; record sets of inmate and prison staff publications; an institutional master plan, 1974; and many photographs documenting the growth of the plant and activities from the 1880s to the 1970s. The records are a valuable source for studies of crime and law enforcement in the Northwest.

The Sir Henry S. Wellcome Papers are a unique gift collection at The National Archives-Seattle Branch which contain correspondence, reports, photographs, and other records relating to the Tsimshian Indian colony founded on Annette Island, Alaska, by William Duncan, an English lay missionary. Mr. Duncan's methods, and his bitter conflict with the U.S. Department of the Interior's Bureau of Education are still matters of scholarly interest.

Records of the Department of the Treasury (Record Group 56) Bureau of Prohibition, 1927-1933, Finding Aid is online at <http://www.nara.gov/regional/findaids/searg56.html>. The Bureau of Prohibition was responsible for tracking bootleggers and organized crime leaders. They focused primarily on interstate and international cases and those cases where local law enforcement officials would not or could not act. The Seattle office of the Bureau of Prohibition apparently operated in Idaho, Oregon, Montana, Washington, and Wyoming.

Native American Census Information

Census enumerators did not count Indians not taxed, that is, Indians who lived on reservations or who roamed as nomads over unsettled tracts of land. Whether or not they were of mixed blood, Indians who had severed their tribal affiliations and lived among the general population or on the outskirts of town, were counted as part of the ordinary population. Before 1870, however, there is seldom a way to identify such Indians in the census. Schedules of a Special Census of Indians 1880 (M1791) reproduces a special 1880 enumeration of Indians living near military installations in Washington, Dakota Territories, and California. All other Indians should be enumerated in the state, county, or locality where they resided. Not until 1890 did the decennial census schedules enumerate the Indian population with any accuracy.

The records of the Bureau of Indian Affairs include many tribal census rolls, which are completely unrelated to the decennial census schedules. These are described in chapter 11 of Genealogical Research in the National Archives, available online to ancestry.com subscribers at <http://www.ancestry.com/ancestry/search/1013.htm>.

This spotlight on the Pacific Alaska Region-Seattle was presented on the Ancestry Daily News. The information is from "The Archives: A Guide to the National Archives Field Branches," by Loretto Dennis Szucs and Sandra Hargreaves Luebking (Salt Lake City: Ancestry, 1988).

COVER STORY

Olympia's Yesterdays

The "Washington Standard"
The Origin of "The Olympian"

After working with the "Argus" in Oregon City, John Miller Murphy decided to become a publisher. So, in 1860, feeling Olympia offered an opportunity for a newspaper, he established the "Washington Standard". In his first editorial he said, "We enter upon the task of editing and conducting a newspaper with many misgivings as to the future". In spite of his prophesy, the paper was to achieve the distinction of being the oldest continuous publication in Washington Territory, running more than five decades under Murphy's direction.

Murphy trained his daughters in the printing trade, since he was a staunch supporter of suffrage and rights for women.

Murphy's views and opinions of Olympia, its inhabitants, and its growth, can be enjoyed in "Mere Mention", (the title of his column) for the entire year of Statehood, 1889, edited by Roger Easton. This 120 page publication is available from the Olympia Heritage Commission. Contact Shanna Stevenson, 786-5745.

*Cemetery Records of Thurston County,
Washington*

More than 24,500 names from 21 cemeteries are listed alphabetically in three soft cover, comb-bound volumes. Each listing includes the name, date of birth, date of death and any other information on the headstone. The information for all 21 cemeteries is presented in one alphabetical listing. This eliminates the need for an index and for researchers to review every cemetery when searching for an internment in Thurston County. Each volume includes a brief description and/or history of each cemetery.

QUERIES

Queries by members are free of charge. Non-members may list one free query per issue as space permits. Each query should contain at least one date (or approximation), one surname, one area or other information to identify the person being sought. Queries are subject to abbreviation. All queries should be typed or printed, and should be received four weeks prior to publication (i.e. by June 15 for the July issue).

Send queries to: Ed Swan, 1975 Lakemoor Pl SW, Olympia, WA 98502, or Query Editor, c/o Olympia Genealogical Society, PO Box 1313, Olympia, WA 98501.

EXCHANGE NOTES

By Myraleigh Farnsworth Peters

WHAT'S A TIMBER CRUISER?

A "timber cruiser" would go out into the woods for weeks on end surveying new forests before the lumberjacks came. Based on his reports the management could estimate how many saw-logs or utility poles, etc., could be gotten from a given area.

ON THE CENSUS?

Census enumerators were instructed to take the census "as of" the census date, regardless of the visit date. Babies born after the "date" were not included but deaths were. Although not all enumerators applied the rule, heed it when researching. (Ellen Payne Odom Library NEWSLETTER, via Paradise Gen Society NUGGETS FROM PARADISE and Greater Omaha Gen Society WESTWARD INTO NEBRASKA. )

WISCONSIN CENSUS
INDEX CAUTION:
1855 STATE CENSUS

The genealogical society that created the 1855 Wisconsin Census Index did something peculiar. Apparently two people abstracted the data from the schedules. When they had completed the project the work was not collated into one alphabetical sequence. The first half of every volume of this index contains one abstractor's records, and the second half contains the other's records. So - you have to check in both places for any particular name for which you are searching. If you've referenced this resource and did not find your ancestor, look again - this time in the second half. (Foothills Gen Society Lakewood CO, via Paradise Gen Society NUGGETS FROM PARADISE, and Greater Omaha Gen Society WESTWARD INTO NEBRASKA. )

MARK TWAIN SEZ

Get your facts first, then you can distort them as much as you please.

SCOTTISH TIDBITS

A new 40-acre prehistory park has opened in Scotland. It is located in the Grampian Highlands. Organizers of the park, called Archaeolink, are hopeful it may spark an interest in heritage and ancestry. Along the same lines, Sunlaws House Hotel and Golf Course (about 2 hours drive from Edinburgh) is offering lessons on "How to be a Scot." The two-day program includes fishing instruction, bagpipe serenades, and a primer on the history of the kilt. It is open to groups of ten or more. And finally, you can get a free brochure entitled "Tracing Your Ancestors" and a vacation planner from the British Tourist Authority, toll-free at 1-800-462-2748, ext. 6. (SEATTLE TIMES, 15 June 1997, via Eastside Gen Society WA BULLETIN BOARD. )

- LOOKING FOR AN OUT-OF-PRINT BOOK? If you are looking for an out-of-print book, the American Association of University Women Book Finders, a non-profit organization, will search an inventory of about 8,000 antiquarian book dealers for a specific title. The search usually takes 100-120 days, at no charge. Contact AAUW Book Finders, PO Box 8152, Corpus Christi TX 78468. (From AROUND THE TABLE, published by The Genealogical Roundtable, via Eastside Gen Soc WA BULLETIN BOARD. )
- U.S. MAIL ONCE UPON A TIME The first adhesive U.S. postage stamps went on sale 1 July 1847. They were the George Washington stamp at 10 cents and the Benjamin Franklin priced at 5 cents.
- Free mail delivery was begun during the Civil War to cities with more than 50,001 residents. Rural Free Delivery did not start until 1896. The U.S. Postal Service noted this 100-year anniversary by issuing a 32 cent stamp on 7 Aug 1996. (Milwaukee Co WI Gen Society REPORTER, August 1997.)
- BLACK SLAVES OWNED BY INDIAN TRIBE MEMBERS "A published report from the Preliminary Report on the Eighth U.S. Census, 1860 by Superintendent Joseph C. G. Kennedy ... African slaves owned by the Choctaw Nation number 2,297 Negro slaves held by 385 Indian owners. Negro slaves owned by the Cherokee Nation number 2,504 owned by 384 Indian owners. The Creek Nation had 1,651 Negro slaves owned by 267 Indian owners. The Chickasaw Nation had 917 black slaves owned by 118 owners." (The excerpts appeared in the Berks County Genealogical Society publication, Summer 1997, by Lenore Deitrich Adams and was reprinted in ANTIQUA WEEK 30 June 1997 via Milwaukee County WI Genealogical Society REPORTER August 1997.)
- US CONGRESS URGES CHOCTAWS TO GRANT CITIZENSHIP TO THEIR 4,000 FORMER NEGRO SLAVES The Choctaw Legislative Council has just adjourned after an exacting session of about four weeks. In the Treaty of 1866, Congress agreed to give the Choctaws $30,000 for a strip of country known as the Leased District, provided the Choctaws would, within two years, adopt into the nation and make citizens about 4,000 Negroes, former slaves of the Choctaw, and give 40 acres of land to each person. The time expired without action being taken and, from council to council, Government has extended the time. This money, with interest, now amounts to more than $40,000, yet so strong is the prejudice, or fear of sectionizing and allotting their lands, that they have refused to take action for adoption. (MILWAUKEE DAILY SENTINEL, Monday, 3 Nov 1873, via Milwaukee County Gen Society REPORTER, August 1997.)

THAT DATE MEAN?

When reading old newspapers, letters or manuscripts, the references to dates can be very confusing, Terms are found such as Monday instant or the 20th ULT, terms which are no longer in use today. These all had specific meanings which were generally accepted:

Monday instant - if used usually means "today"

The 10th instant - the 10th of the present month

The 20th ultimo - the 20th of last month

Monday last - the most recent Monday

Tuesday next - the nearest Tuesday to follow

December last - the most recent December, even though this has been in the previous year

While the terms next and last are written out, the term ultimo is often written ULT while instant is designated INST. It is important when interpreting these terms to note the date of the document being read as this is the key. (From ANCESTRY TRAILS of the Trumble Co OH Gen. Sec. via MUSKINGUM of the Ohio Co Chapter of the Ohio Genealogical Society.)

GHOSTLY CHARACTERS

If you have trouble with "bleed through" when copying or scanning documents, try putting a piece of dark paper behind the original. This will help to minimize ghost characters from the back of the original. (From FAIRFIELD TRACE, of the Fairfield Co Chapter of the Ohio Gen Society, via Toledo Area OH Gen Soc NEWSLETTER.)

NEW AT SEATTLE
FEDERAL ARCHIVES

Newly purchased microfilm at the National Archives regional branch in Seattle includes three groups of indexes to compiled service records: M694 Volunteers who served from 1794 to 1811, M871 General Index - War with Spain, and M87 General Index - Philippine Insurrection. (Eastside Gen Society BULLETIN BOARD via So King Co Newsm and via Tacoma-Pierce County Gen Society RESEARCHER. )

FEE INCREASE FOR WASHINGTON
BIRTHS & DEATHS

In keeping with state law, the fee for birth and death records in Washington went up July 26th. At either county or state level expect to pay $13 for certified copies. (Tacoma-Pierce County RESEARCHER Sumner 1997.)

PILGRIM FATHERS

The Mayflower Pilgrim Fathers didn't realize they were Pilgrim Fathers for another five decades, or until William Bradford wrote of the Plymouth Plantation: "They knew they were pilgrims." Because of this phrase, first printed in 1669, the hearty band that landed in wintrv Cape Cod in 1620 are now called Pilgrim Fathers. (Isaac Asimov's Book of Facts, via Hemet-San Jacinto Gen Society PASTFINDEII, Aug 1997.)

- IOWA COUNTY RECORDS Effective as of 1 July 1997, birth, death and marriage records at the county level in Iowa will be handled by the county recorder's office rather than the clerk of district court office. County recorders will take over as county registrars of vital records in Iowa. (Hemet-San Jacinto Gen Society PASTFINDER, Aug 1997.)
- LIVING FAST: BURNING THE CANDLE AT BOTH ENDS The Early American daubed a bulrush reed with tallow, stuck its middle into a crotched holder, and lighted one end. Or sometimes, for more glow and despite quicker burnout, lighted both ends. The old line about "burning the candle at both ends" started in fact, not fiction, (Hemet-San Jacinto Gen Society PASTFINDER, Aug 1997.)
- NEWS FROM STATE ARCHIVES The South Dakota State Archives is now on-line. Check out their Web Site at http : //www.state.sd.us/state/executive/deca/cultural/archives.htm.

They have a surname reference form that you can fill out on-line and they will file it in their Surname Reference File. Copies of family group sheets and pedigree charts are welcome also. Send them to: South Dakota State Historical Society, Cultural Heritage Center, 900 Governors Drive, Pierre SD 57501-2217. (Rapid City Society for Gen Research, Inc., BLACK HILLS NUGGETS, August 1997.)
- PENSION FILES FOUND RECENTLY: REVOLUTIONARY WAR, WAR OF 1812 AND SEMINOLE WAR Over 100 boxes of pension records were found recently at the National Archives in Washington DC. They date back to the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812 and the Seminole War. They were never indexed or microfilmed. The files, arranged by account number are being published in the American Genealogy Magazine by Datatrace Systems, PO Box 1587, Stephenville TX 76401. (PIONEER BRANCHES Jan 1997, via Whitman County WA Gen Society NEWSLETTER July-Aug 1997.)
- MAINE MARRIAGES ONLINE The state of Maine has marriage information available online for the years 1892-1966 at: <http://www.state.me.us/sos/arc/archives/genealog/marriage.htm>
- AN "EDITED FAMILY TREE" In the "Miss Manners" column the problems of genealogy were addressed. Someone wanted to produce an edited family tree as a gift - leaving out stepchildren, changing dates, and omitting husbands who weren't paying child support. Miss Manners suggested a rubber plant instead! (Odom Library FAMILY TREE via Natchez Trace Gen Society (AL).)
