SURNAME INDEX PUBLISHED!

The first copies of the new Olympia Genealogical Society Surname Index book was available at the December monthly meeting. The Surname Index contains more than 18,400 names of the ancestors of more than 150 OGS members. The objective of the publication is to help individual members find others in the society working on the same family lines, and also to provide contacts for other genealogists nationwide. It is the result of a project undertaken by the OGS Computer Interest Group, with Chairman Jerri McCoy acting as the editor. (Which is why this issue of the Quarterly is so late! Sorry!)

During the last year and a half, several members of the CIG have transcribed pedigree charts, ahnentafel charts, notes, and computerized genealogies into their computers. The pertinent facts (birth, marriage, and death along with the name of the state or country) as submitted, are included in the book, along with a code to identify the contributor.

Copies of the OGS Surname Index book can be purchased from Kathy Houser or Letty Schoch (at the Society's address) for $23.78 ($22.00 plus $1.78 sales tax). Add an additional $1.70 if you would like to have yours mailed.

NEW BOOKS IN THE LIBRARY

929.1025 Polakoff, Eileen, compiler. DIRECTORY OF PROFESSIONAL GENEALOGISTS. Association of Professional Genealogists, 1990. This directory includes information on hiring a professional genealogist as well as names, addresses, specialties, geographic areas of expertise, and background. The names are alphabetical. In the back are cross reference indexes under specialties, geographic areas and places of residence. A handy source if you are thinking of hiring a genealogist or for speakers.

328.797 Barton, C.M., compiler. BARTON'S LEGISLATIVE HANDBOOK AND MANUAL OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON, CONTAINING HISTORICAL, POLITICAL, COMMERCIAL, AGRICULTURAL AND OTHER DATA: TOGETHER WITH INTERESTING STATISTICS FROM THE ORGANIZATION OF THE TERRITORY TO THE CLOSE OF THE FIRST LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE. Abridged edition, 1989. This is housed in the Northwest Reference next to the genealogy section. It has much information on the people involved in the first legislature, including biographical sketches of members of the legislature. Also includes information on each county in 1889 and all the officers at the time, such as the sheriff, justice of peace, etc. A fascinating book on early Washington politics and history.

929.1072 Colletta, John P. THEY CAME IN SHIPS. Ancestry, 1989. A small but useful book on passenger lists, catalogs, indexes, etc., and where to find them.

929.3016 PERIODICAL SOURCE INDEX, 1990 Annual Volume. Allen County Public Library Genealogy Dept., 1991. If you haven't used this valuable resource, do it. You can look up any surname or location of interest and find out which articles have been published about it in genealogical periodicals. We probably have a number of them right here, or close by in Seattle or Tacoma. Make a list and take it when you go researching. The annual issues of this set are being purchased by Timberland.

USEFUL BOOKS NOT IN THE GENEALOGY SECTION

929.8209 McLaren, Mike THE BOOK OF CRESTS. Heritage Books, 1990. The author is a heraldic artist, and has illustrated a full representation of badges bearing the crests and mottoes of the chiefs of major Scottish clans and names, past and present. The book also includes the crest badges belonging to many North American clan and family associations and societies. They are alphabetical by name, and include the drawing, the blazon and motto for the clan. Should be useful and fun for Scottish researchers.

973.8 ANNALS OF AMERICA. Encyclopaedia Britannica, 1968. This is a 19 volume set of books about our country from 1493 to 1968. It includes short pieces, historical documents, etc., that should be useful to fill in background information for genealogists. For instance, Vol. 1 covers 1493-1754, and is called Discovery of America. Some interesting items would be John Brereton: an Account of New England 1620; First Charter of Massachusetts 1629; On Parental Duty and the Apprenticeship of Children 1642-1646; and a Trip to America by Peter Kalm, 1748, to name a few. This set was a donation and is located in the reference section of the library.

HI, COUSINS.

Is the difference between a second cousin and a first cousin twice removed a matter of deep mystery to you? First, you must understand just what is a cousin.

This one is easy! Your cousins are children born to either your aunts or uncles. these are called first cousins. Next take second cousins. This, too, is fairly simple. If you have a child and your first cousin has a child, they - presto! are second cousins to each other.

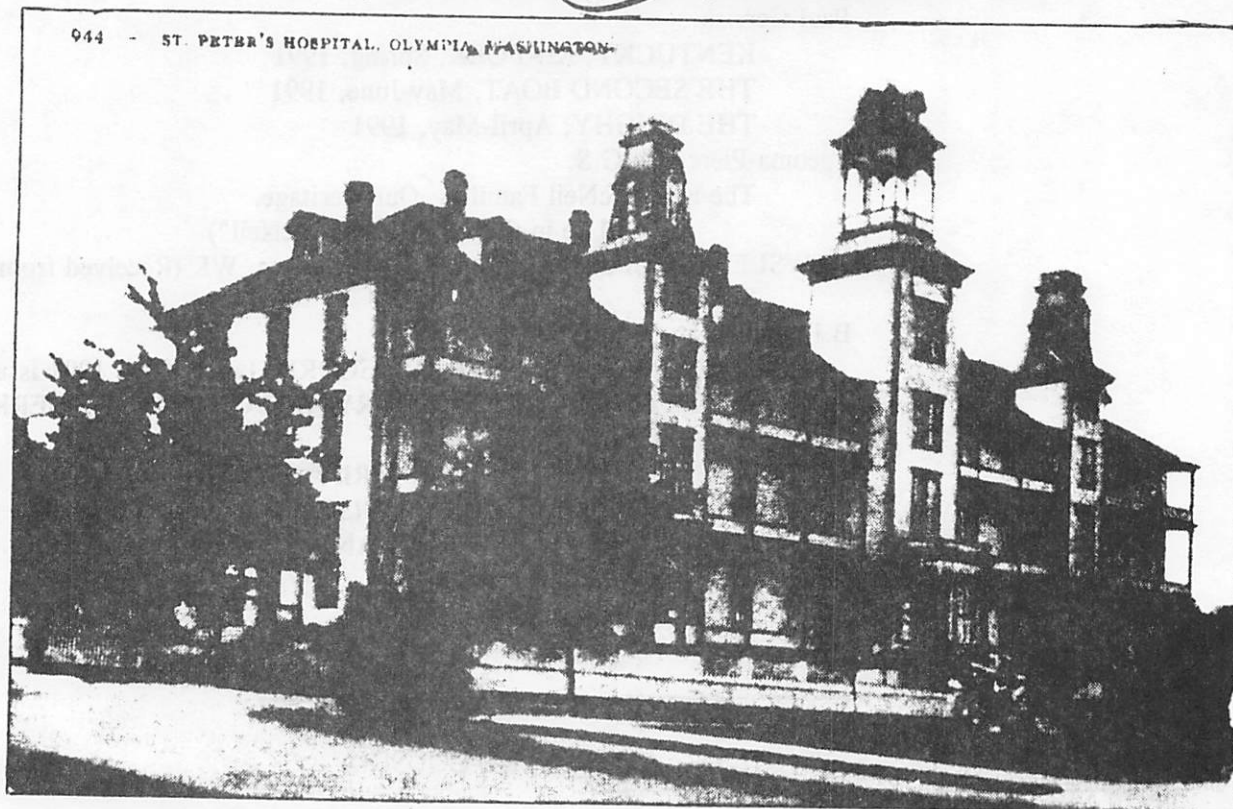

Third cousins are the children born to second cousins, and so forth.

Now, if you have this cousin business clearly in mind, it is not too difficult a step to understand the "once removed" and "twice removed" part. You know, for instance, that if your first cousin has a child that this child bears a relationship to you and vice versa. What to call it? That child would not be a second cousin, obviously, because as we have seen, second cousinship is a relationship which children of first cousins bear to each other.

So, if your first cousin has a child, you need another name for that relationship. That's where "removed" comes in. A child born to your first cousin is simply and purely what is known as a first cousin once removed. Now, if THAT child becomes a parent, your relation to the offspring will be a first cousin twice removed. This same system is in effect for labeling kinship between 2nd cousins, 3rd cousins, etc. For instance, your second cousin has a child. That would be your 2nd cousin once removed. A child born to it would in turn be your second cousin twice removed, and so on. Simple, what!

Olympia's Yesterdays

St. Peter Hospital: mecca for many maladies

By Gordon Newell

In 1891, an Olympia Tribune reporter with an ear for alliteration wrote of the entrance to "The portals of St. Peter - that mecca for many maladies" of a Mrs. Mathias Hawes, suffering the pangs of a premature birth. "Nothing", the scribe recorded, "but the infinite variety of resources stored in the brain of Dr. Hal Wyman brought the woman through the most dangerous and painful ordeal."

St. Peter was four years old when Dr. Wyman's medical genius saved the life of Mrs. Hawes. Located on a full city block between 11th and 12th on the west side of Columbia, the belfry-crowned wooden structure was one of 11 large hospitals built in the Northwest by that remarkable woman, Mother Joseph, head of the Sisters of Charity of Providence. She also built seven academies (Olympia's St. Michael's was one), five Indian schools, two orphanages and many clinics and classrooms that have long since disappeared from memory and records.

The French-Canadian nun entered Holy Orders at Montreal in 1843, led a small group of nuns to the Northwest in 1856, and died in 1902. A true Renaissance woman, she designed the buildings, raised the money to build them, and did more than her share of the actual construction. Shoddy workmanship infuriated her, and she once demolished an unsafe brick chimney and spent the night rebuilding it. Her Olympia hospital served the community's needs from 1887 to 1924, when a second St. Peter was built on south Sherman street. Even after the then ultra-modern brick building was occupied, hospital costs remained unbelievably low by today's standards. A bill dated February 9, 1933 shows 14 days room, board and attendance at $42.00 ($21.00 a week), laboratory fee $8.50, medicines $5.00, and "13 meals previous to date" $4.35, for a grand total of $59.85!

The present 11-story St. Peter Hospital on Lilly Road was completed in 1971.

Mother Joseph was overlooked by historians for many years; even her Vancouver grave was overgrown and neglected until the early 1960s, when Clark County Historical Society members, led by Ann King of Vancouver, began a campaign to get her the recognition she deserves.

The upshot; in 1980 the bronze likeness of the builder of Olympia's first St. Peter hospital (by Felix de Weldon, sculptor of the famous Iwo Jima flag-raising), was placed in Statuary Hall at the national capitol as one of Washington's two most distinguished citizens.
